

DEPARTMENT OF COUNSELLING PSYCHOLOGY

LOYOLA COLLEGE, CHENNAI

CHRISTMAS CRIB COMPETITION, DEC' 2021

The Christmas Crib is a symbolic representation of the joy of the birth of Christ. The Department of Counselling Psychology, as the first batch of the Department uniquely pitched in the Crib Competition.

The outstanding features of the crib were:

- All the items in the crib were handmade and crafted (except the sand).
- The members of the department, both the students and staff stuck their faces, on the various representatives of the crib (For example, on the cattle, shepherds, kings, angels, stars, Mother Mary and Joseph) to express our participation and joy in welcoming the birth of the savior, Jesus Christ.
- It also signifies that we still hold onto the hope in life, in whatever situation and roles life places us in, strengthened in the love and escort of God, as one of us.
- Finally, the crib was labelled “Department of Counselling Psychology” to show our oneness as a family, welcoming the spirit of Magis, belongingness and togetherness, reaching out to each other and having each other's support and understanding.
