REPORT OF THE LECTURE ON ENTREPRENEURSHIP, INNOVATION & STARTUPS

22nd December, 2022

5:00 p.m

About the Event:

Innovation is the mother of all developments. When we as a society want to move forward, we innovate. Innovation can start with a simple thing such as how we clean our house and can go on until developing more efficient aircraft engines and developments in Agriculture while on the other side developing a re efficient space exploration. It is important for students studying business to learn how to better innovate what they are doing in their existing ideas. In the need to nurture this, the Department of Commerce (Shift-II), Loyola College organized a lecture on Entrepreneurship, Innovation and start-up management in collaboration with the Loyola Institutions Innovation Council (LIIC). The guests for the lecture were Mr. Vijay Kapoor, Founder of Derby Menswear & Mr. Akhilesh Ashok, Founder, House of Sause, both pioneers in the fashion industry and alumni the Department of Commerce (Shift – II).

The Guest of Honour, Mr. Akhilesh Ashok is the founder of the brand “House of Sause”. Mr. Ashok completed his B. Com degree from Loyola College in the year 2018. In the history of Loyola College, Mr. Ashok is the first person to win more than a hundred cultural competitions that ranged from debates, to shark tanks and others. Mr. Ashok also served as the Joint Finance Secretary of the Commerce Forum. He also played for the Loyola Cricket team and was the secretary of the Holy Cross Student Council. Mr. Ashok is also now pursuing his chartered accountancy course. His brand House of Sause sells luxury streetwear which was launched in Milan on 31st August 2022.

Mr. Ashok, began his address by saying that he had the idea to start the brand post the pandemic with the motivation to start a streetwear brand that sold luxury clothing which is indigenous to India. He stated that when starting such a venture, it was important to come out of the comfort zone, due to the uncertain nature of such a business due to its novelty. The Guest of honor stated that fashion brands must have sustainability as the notion, which was due to the nature of the garment industry. The second idea to develop such a fashion brand was the need to create hype. Hype in such an industry can be used by using influencers and due to the advent of social media, sports persons, actors and others help the brand to increase the hype around their products. In the case of Mr. Akhilesh's brand used cricketer M.S. Dhoni and Music director G.V Prakash to wear their products and create the necessary hype. Another way the brand created hype was by launching the brand in Milan, which helped create hype where people had the tendency to perceive the brand as a western brand. Another one that can help such a brand is the motto of why such a brand is formed.

The motto of House of Sause was to make people wear experimental clothing while having the confidence to wear it. The speaker also spoke about the importance of networking. The speaker mentioned that his production dealer, his marketing team & many others associated with his brand were his fellow Loyolites and fellow students. He also explained about capital through startup funding and boot camps, while also using word of mouth to build strong relations with customers and stakeholders in general. The speaker ended their address by explaining the fact that failure can be expected with starting off such a brand and we must embrace it, while also asking students their entrepreneurial ideas.

The Chief Guest Mr. Vijay Kapoor founded Derby Men's Fashion. He launched his fashion label Derby Men's Fashion at the age of 23, with only a small room. He is an alumnus of St. Bedes Anglo Indian Senior Secondary School and graduated with a degree in Commerce from Loyola College. Mr. Vijay also aced the seed transformation programme by Stanford University, a prominent test for entrepreneurship and innovation. He created Derby Men's Fashion with the idea to put India on the international fashion map. He has been awarded many prestigious accolades, including the "Top Retail Minds of India". Mr. Vijay, took forth the inspiring goal of creating a thousand first-generation entrepreneurs by the date of 31st March 2025. He has also trekked the Himalayas and also divided the seas, in pursuit of exploring exotic corals.

The Chief Guest began their speech by explaining the need for love. Love in anything will help in fostering a good nature & he explained that this will also be very helpful for entrepreneurs to be able to drive their business. With love only came sustainable fashion as the garment industry was the second most polluting industry globally. The speaker then explained that entrepreneurs take capital from a lower area of productivity and take it to a higher area of productivity. The main goal of entrepreneurship is problem-solving. The speaker drew parallels between parenting to entrepreneurship, as one's firm or product can be regarded as one's child. He explained that entrepreneurship while providing freedom, it does also take up all your time and one must be ready for that.

The speaker laid heavy emphasis on communication skills as this can help with networking and creating a strong relationship for the business. The speaker explained that life was a result of one's choice and only their choice and a person must own these choices. This gives the thought that entrepreneurship is more about the person and how they take it forward rather than the idea. The Chief Guest explained that he had lost majorly in his business when he took it on a large scale across India. For his business to come back, they went back to the grassroots and brought it back. Mr. Vijay explained that it is very important for any entrepreneur to understand the grassroots and stick to it. As a final thought, the speaker explained that an entrepreneur always needed to be humble, while also laying emphasis on the idea of love again. The speaker ended their discussion with a question-and-answer session with the students.

Key Takeaways:

The invited lecture brought in the following key takeaways:

- Students learned about what it takes to start a business;
- The hurdles that are to be faced, which can only be solved by innovative thinking.
- Problem-solving through innovative thinking also includes the sourcing of capital as well as the need to have a good network.
- Finally, students understood the values & commitment that they must put forth while starting their entrepreneurial journey.
