Seva Mela, an initiative of Chennai Mission Trust and CIOSA is an opportunity for all Chennaities to experience the wonderful work that the NGOs of the city are doing under one roof. More than 60 Non-Government organizations presented their impacts in working areas on issues of health, education, elderly care, and domestic violence in the two day programme. It has inspired the visitors to be part of their journey in whatever way they could be. The Department of Service Learning also put up a stall to motivate the student fraternity to involve themselves in service learning while they are studying. It also aimed at encouraging the well-wishers to support the welfare of widows, elders and children in working areas (slums). The stall attracted the attention of Mr. Suriya, the actor and alumnus of Loyola College who was invited to visit Seva Mela.
