Director's Message

Department of Service Learning aims at holistic formation of every student who enters into the portals of Loyola College. Formation includes not merely classroom teaching but also exposure to the social realities of rural and urban poor. This helps the students to understand and respond to the needy with social responsibility.

The undergraduate students spend ninety hours catering to various programs with specific priorities like Child protection and development, Youth development, Women empowerment, Health and hygiene and Elders and differently abled persons. They organize programs for the children, youth, widows, differently abled and elders in creating awareness on the need of education, environment protection, rights and duties of a citizen, life skills, schemes of the government and NGOs, alternate games, etc.

The Post graduate students engage in Rural Camp and Urban intervention for 45 hours each. They learn to understand unorganized workers and the disadvantaged sections of the community, appreciate the manual labour, enhance self-esteem, and develop the art of working in groups with compassion and commitment.

The activities of the department of service learning is twofold: The first is to help the students to grow in their personality by providing opportunities to acquire knowledge, skills, attitude and values. The other element is to train our students to be sensitive to the needs of the disadvantaged and vulnerable sections of the society through exposure and intervention program. I can assure that these twofold goals are achieved through the meticulous planning and execution by every staff and students in the department.

“The most useful asset of a person is not a head full of knowledge but a heart full of love, with ears open to listen and hands willing to help.”
Let the desire to serve others ever grow in every one of us. Thanks for all that has been accomplished and lets March ahead together with hope filled future. Best wishes!!

Rev. Dr. A. Louis Arockiaraj, S.J
Director, Department of Service Learning (Outreach)

OVERVIEW

Department of Service Learning (Outreach) was established in the year 2001-2002 with the Ignatian pedagogy of neighbourhood development by Rev. Dr. V. Joseph Xavier S.J. This programme aims at forming men and women for others for a better society. Outreach is the third dimension of higher education in Loyola College and endeavours training the college students for their attitudinal change. It is a novel step in the Jesuit higher education for promoting a value-based, fraternity, equality, justice and a violence free society. Every student is made to critically understand the society and develop critical consciousness which motivates them to serve mankind. Seasoning of the heart, spiritual blending of the mind, pro-poor are the key areas of invisible change to be created among the student community.

VISION :

To facilitate the student community to become socially responsible citizens and to be sensitive to the needs of the disadvantaged sections.

VALUES:

To imbibe the love and concern for others, students should dedicate themselves to community service, thereby shaping themselves as men and women for others.

MISSION:

To create a society with committed youth to promote equality, Justice, education, health and environment for the underprivileged.

AIM:

To help the neighbouring communities to transform themselves through programmes on literacy, health promotion, women empowerment, youth clubs and reduction of dropouts in schools.

OBJECTIVES:

- To enable the students to learn social responsibility.
- To provide an exposure about slums and create an ambience to reflect on the possible ways of intervention in their development.
- To learn from the people's experience and try to create facilities that would empower them.
- To make our institution and individuals to realize our duty towards serving the neighborhood communities.

INTERVENTION AREAS:

Right from the inception of Outreach, we have been working in slums in the city of Chennai in the zones of 5, 8, 9, 10 and 13. We have intervened 43 slums where the second year undergraduates and the first year post graduates do their interventions.

DYNAMICS OF PG RURAL CAMP

Inauguration at the Camp Site

Yoga and Exercise in the Morning

Manual Work with Villagers

Interaction with the Community

Creating a Model Village

Cultural Event for Community at the End of the Camp

In Loyola, the PG students are given exposure to both rural and urban, in their first and second years respectively. There is a balance between both rural and urban exposure. The students of Loyola feel that the outreach program is about giving, contributing and helping those who cannot help themselves. The students go to the rural camps where others don't, and reach out to those who aren't reached out by others. It's also a great opportunity for the younger generation as it influences them to give back to the community. It helps the community grow in a substantial way. The house visits not only helps the students to interact with the villagers but also makes them realize the struggles faced by the people for making a their livelihood. At the end of the rural camp schedule, a community programme is conducted by the students for the villagers, in a selected village, where the students get an opportunity to exhibit and reflect on their talents.

SALIENT FEATURES OF THE CAMP

The students in each of the camps would usually begin the day with meditation and prayer along with meditation/yoga and a few physical and stretching exercises. A good start to any event is through prayer. The prayers were conducted in each of the different faiths to invoke the blessings of God.

The tasks that were allotted to the students were based on the needs of a particular village and it was intended to be beneficial to the villagers and also help the students understand and appreciate the value of physical labour while being engaged in it.

Scarcity of water, shifting from agriculture to other professions like brick making, daily wage jobs or the 100 days government scheme. Since crops like rice require high amount of water, it isn't very prominent in these areas. Crops like groundnut are rather more common due to the lower water requirement.

MANUAL WORKS

- Planting Saplings
- Cleaning Public Utilities
- Cleaning Water Tanks
- Digging Ponds And Canals

STUDENT'S REFLECTION

Students in each of the camps would conduct cultural programmes which were based on their observations, learnings, social issues and problems faced by the villagers and also what they dreamed about the village.

Low wages, debts, lack of transport facilities, unstable homes, poor market in the villages for their goods and the involvement of middlemen were the major problems the villagers faced.

Health care access is minimal due to the lack of transportation. Students could observe that the dominant caste tenements were away from the fields and were spaciouly divided, unlike the oppressed areas where the fields were lined too closely.

My friends and I would walk up and down our location talking to the youth present there and would try our best in helping them solve their problems. The satisfaction that I got from helping people was unparalleled.

Rowan Barnette 18-UDJ-029

I learnt on how to balance our work and how to be responsible in all ways and how to face some problems that comes in our life situation and I also improved social and people skills.

Neeraj 18-UMT-425

People of Gangai Karai Puram have made a place in the heart in every student not because we helped them make their lives better but because they helped us build our character.

S. Muralisrikrishna 18-UEC-403

I've learnt various things from outreach such as Rapport Building, Connecting with people and so on. I would say outreach has changed me into a more Mature Person.

Surya Bharathi KP 18-UMT-303

We learnt about the problems of the people living in the slum and we believe we worked well together to improve their lives! As a part of school teaching team I learnt how talented the students are.

Tharun K 18-UCO-328

Initially I had the fear of talking in public and the outreach experience helped me to overcome that fear and I became a public speaker. I also felt good when I was able to help others get jobs.

Abraham 18-UDJ-005

It was an experience unparalleled to anything I've experienced ever before. It was a fun filled experience which will develop your communication and leadership skills that you shall experience in your second year.

Vasisht Sharma 18-UVC-147

The way the people in this locality live, made me want to do something for them. I understood the importance of clean water and it's scarcity and I decided that from now and in the future I will be looking forward to do more for people residing here.

I joined the women empowerment team and went to our community place. But when I reached there I faced a lot of obstacles, pains and sufferings that made me not get connected with the community people as their mindset differed from mine.

S, Magesh 18-UEL-045

Outreach exposed the true state of economic inequality to me. While the basic needs are a luxury to the poor, the rich hoarde up money for the sake of pride. I thank the Outreach department for changing my political and economic opinions.
