Most gulls don't bother to learn more than the simplest facts of flight-how to get from shore to food and back again. For most gulls, it is not flying that matters, but eating. For this gull, though, it was not eating that mattered, but flight. More than anything else, Jonathan Livingston loved to fly.

This kind of thinking, he found, is not the way to make one's self popular with other birds. Even his parents were dismayed as Jonathan spent whole days alone, making hundreds of low-level glides, experimenting.

8. What are most gulls bothered about ?
9. What matters to most gulls ?
10. What is so special about Jonathan Livingston Seagull ?
11. Why was Jonathan not so popular with other birds ?
12. How did Jonathan spend his whole days ?

V Read the following passage and frame FIVE appropriate QUESTIONS : 5 x 1 = 5 marks

One day a soothsayer visited David's village. The soothsayer was invited by many of the villagers to their houses, who wanted to know their future. The soothsayer first asked the name of the person, his occupation, his income, the number of children he had, female or male, the serious problem they had faced during the past months and so on and so forth. In the light of these details, he predicted what would happen to him in the next few weeks, months and years. He would then warn him against doing anything against what he had instructed him to do. He would extract a good amount of money as fee and ask for some food grains. Thus, he eked out his living.
