Dear Madam,

This is a letter of commendation to Mr B. Bala Prabhakar, student of your department.

Mr. Bala Prabhakar approached me with a confidence and enthusiasm to request to do block fieldwork in my institution. He impressed me with his quiet confidence and eager enthusiasm to throw himself into the field of addiction intervention, treatment and follow-up. He decided to reside at the centre and devote the entire month in this exercise.

He has a cheerful countenance and a quietly confident demeanour in the way he carried himself at all times. He quickly became friendly with the staff and patients at the centre.

His willingness to immerse himself into the area of addiction was evident in the regularity with which he attended all the input sessions, staff meetings and personal interviews.

He made himself available for any chore, which the staff asked him to do.

His keen interest in learning more about addiction, and the addicted was very evident. His empathy with the patients earned him their good will.

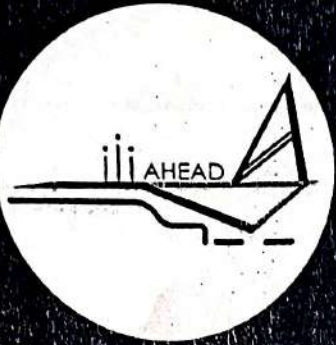

I have been very impressed by his enthusiasm, willingness to learn and desire to serve the needy with dignity and respect. His keenness to learn about the social cost of addiction, particularly among youth was refreshing.

I have been so impressed by him that I have invited him to join the staff of AHEAD.

I wish him all success in his future endeavours.

Yours truly,
